DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 11-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by either Shaddock (US 7,264,351 B2) or Shaddock (US 7,278,739 B2). Shaddock ('351) and Shaddock ('739) both teach a multi-focal contact lens that is made from a responsive polymer gel (see col. 5, line 56-col. 6, line 67 in ('351); see col. 3, line 66-col. 5, line 3 and col. 5, line 31-35 in ('739)). Since light can be a stimulus, (Fig. 11c in ('351) and Fig. 4 in ('739)), it inherently includes a magnetic and an electric field.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 16 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Shaddock (US 7,264,351 B2) or Shaddock (US 7,278,739 B2), taken separately, in view of Large (US 5,712,721). Shaddock (US 7,264,351 B2) or Shaddock (US 7,278,739 B2) are applied for reasons set forth above against claims 11 and 13, but do not teach where a stimulus can be produced by a means such as a micro chip embedded in the contact lens. Large teaches a multi focal contact lens having a stimulus producing means (15) that includes a micro chip embedded in the contact lens. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the multi-focal contact lens of either Shaddock ('351) or Shaddock ('739) with a stimulus producing means such as a micro chip embedded in the contact lens, since as shown by Large, a multi-focal contact lens can include a stimulus producing means such as a micro chip.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 18-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art does not teach or suggest the recited multi-focal contact lens structure where the chip monitors the eye movement such that a change in eye movement causes the chip to emit the stimulus.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed July 30, 2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's arguments concerning the difference between a responsive polymer gel and a shape memory polymer have been considered, however, Applicant is relying on limitations not in the claim. For example, the structure of Shaddock (all cited references) is understood to be a shape memory polymer. A force acting on the structure can cause it to deform, but in response to the deformation, it will respond back to its original shape, hence "responsive". As a polymer gel, it is, therefore, considered to be a responsive polymer gel. This interpretation is for purposes of the rejections above.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
